FRENCH REPORT OF ALLIES' CAMPAIGN.

Allies Are Pushing On, Says the French War Office

PARIS, Sept. 24 [Associated Press] .- The alies have adanced considerably along their western wing, occupying the town of Peronne, despite desperate resistance, according to The official announcement of the French War Department

German reinforcing army that has reached France from Belgium tinder Gen. Von Beehm and is attempting to rescue Gen. Von Kluck.

At the eastern end of the battle line in Prance there has been heavy aghting on the River Mouse, the Allies afternately advancing and retiring.

The official report says:

"First: On our left wing, between the River Somme and the River Oise, our troops have advanced in the direction of "Reye. A detachment occupied Peronne and held this position in spite of a spirited attack on the part of the enemy.

"Between the River Olse and the River Aisne the enemy continues to maintain important bodies of troops, well strenched. We have made a slight advance to the northwest of Berry-au-Bac.

"Second: On the centre, between Rheims and the Argonne district, the situation shows no change. To the east of the Aggonne and on the heights of the Meuse, the enemy has continued his attacks, delivering them with much force. The engagements continue, accompanied by alternate retirements at certain points and advances at others. "On our right wing there has been no change of importance. "In the region of Nancy and in the Vosges certain detachments of the enemy have again attempted to enter upon French soil, driving back light advance bodies of our troops, but their offensive was soon stopped.

"In Galicia the Russians, having taken possession of Jaroslaw, are completely investing Przemysł and continuing their offensive movement on Cracow."

PARIS, Sept. 24 [United Press].—In a series of night attacks, delivered with desperation, the Germans last night failed to break through the French centre. Beyond the bare announcement that the attacks were repulsed in their entirety no particulars are available.

This attack, coupled with unusual activity on the Prench right, proves, the military experts say, that the Germans are making every possible move to relieve the pressure on their slowly crumbling fight.

The German army of Gen. von Boehm, containing practically all of the active army that had been left in Belgium, has reinforced Gen. von Kluck and now holds the extreme north and west of his line, from Doual, fourteen miles east of Arras, south to the neighborhood of Solssons, through Cambrai and St. Quentin.

It is confronted by the French army of Gen. d'Amade. while the British forces, supported by another French army, are continuing their turning movement along the Oise and endeavoring to dislodge Von Kluck and his supporting reinforcements from the hills and entrenchments they now hold in the triangle formed by the Aisne, Oise and Lette

The allies are endeavoring to drive a wedge through the German line at St. Quentin which would enable them to surround von Kluck, isolating him from von Boehm's forces, and force him to retreat precipitously or face complete No troops are being withdrawn from the left to reinforce

French centre and left. They have been aided by several from the second line sent from the mobilization to the south and still maintain their numerical eriority over the enemy.
